16.2 When a Spectator is banned from the sports events, he can file a litigation.

16.3 Another case for banning someone from the sports events could be when a Spectator should have been expelled from the game according to section 71(3) of the Sports Act, however, the Organiser decided not to do so, based on its personal judgment that a potential intervention made by the Organiser could have possibly resulted in a chain of events within the overall Spectator group, that would have jeopardized the safety of the entire event held to an outrageous extent.

16.4 The name, place and date of birth, the duration of being banned, the name of the relevant sports facility, and the scope of the sports event impacted by the ban shall be sent by the Club to the central sports security management database, within 3 days.

16.5 The total duration of the ban shall be as follows (which the Club may alter from, from time-to-time, depending on the specific circumstances of the case):

- When section 1.i) herein was violated: 20 months
- When an object was thrown into the field where the players play: 12 months
- In all other cases: 6 to 12 months.

16.6 When the offender has committed more than one infringements or misdemeanours (within a period of 2 years, calculated from the very first offence), twice the applicable longer banning period can be applied by the Organiser, however never exceeding the maximum time limit set by the law.

16.7 Any ban may be suspended for a probation period by the Club, at the Club’s sole discretion.

16.8 The resolution issued by the Club ordering a ban shall enter into force when duly delivered to the related Spectator. The resolution on the ban must be sent to the Spectator’s home address provided, or publicly known, via registered mail, and the Organiser shall make sure that the related Spectator is able to collect the same at a later date, when requested so in writing. When the letter sent is returned to the Organiser by the Post Office being marked “failed to collect”, “relocated”, “unknown address”, or “refused acceptance”, or any similar message, the resolution shall be deemed to have been properly delivered to the addressee on the 5th business day calculated from the mailing date.

16.10 The review specified in section 16.9 herein shall be conducted by a Review Committee, made up of 7 members, with 4 members being delegated by the Chairman of the Board of Directors of FTC Labdarúgó Zrt., or by another member of the Board of Directors delegated for such purposes by the Chairman, while 3 members shall be delegated by the various fan club organisations being registered partners of the Club. The Review Committee shall in all cases hold a hearing, providing a chance for the banned Spectator to present his/her opinion and evidence on the case.

This Rules of Conduct shall enter into force on 24 July 2015, with some amendments being made at a subsequent date, and the amended version becoming effective on 25 October 2017, and shall be valid until revoked.
